National Taiwan University Procedure for Visiting Students Residing in Off-campus Housing

Off-campus Housing visits

During registration, create personal profiles of students residing in off-campus housing and conduct initial interviews.

Conduct telephone interviews and on-site interviews, and continuously update and modify information from follow-up interviews.

Collect and compile personal profiles and self assessment records of students residing in off-campus housing.

Based on the Letter of Intent for home visits by the police, send official letters to relevant police offices and request support for home visits.

Based on the student profile database, analyze data and provide statistics to relevant divisions and counselors for reference and follow-up counseling.
